

Heritage Hunt Giving Circle awards grants

The Giving Circle of Heritage Hunt held its fourth annual award ceremony on Wednesday, Nov. 16 in the Marsh Mansion in Gainesville. Eight grants were given to local nonprofits to help continue their work in western Prince William County.

The recipients were: The Prince William Area Free Clinic represented by Scott Farrell; Project Mend-A-House, represented by Andrea Saccoccia; BEACON, represented by Deborah Abbott; Transitional Housing BARN, represented by Becky Goodman; Manassas Midwifery, represented by Kathleen McClelland; The Joe 15 Team, represented by Debbie Page-Maples; CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates), represented by Charlyn Hasson-Brown; and Rainbow Center Therapeutic Riding, represented by Debi Alexander.

The Giving Circle is made up of Heritage Hunt residents who each contribute $1 a day to create the charity fund. Every year, the group accepts grant applications from local nonprofits and awards funding.

Times Community © 2007 | Gainesville Times

November 23, 2011 Edition